

Agenda - Stormwater Learning Cohort

Tuesday, August 13, 2013:

Green Infrastructure Planning and Implementation: Lessons Learned and Confessions Shared

Time	Session
9:00 AM	Arrival: UW Center for Urban Horticulture , Seattle (map) Coffee, tea, and juice available
9:30 AM	Welcome & Introductions
10:00 AM	Lessons from the Field: Siting, Design, and Public Engagement Strategies to Ensure the Social Feasibility of LID Right-of-Way Retrofits in Established Neighborhoods Pam Emerson, Green Stormwater Infrastructure Policy Advisor - Seattle Public Utilities Shanti Colwell, Environmental Engineer - Seattle Public Utilities Gretchen Muller, Senior Associate - Cascadia Consulting Followed by Q & A Discussion
11:00 AM	Local LID efforts: Regional highlights and project lessons shared Pierce County Surface Water Management: Dawn Anderson, Civil Engineer - LID Specialist Tulalip Tribes Natural Resources: Val Streeter, Stormwater Planner
11:30 PM	LUNCH (to be provided - vegetarian options available)
12:30 PM	Confessions of LID Designers: An Honest Critique of Design Choices for Successful Implementation Dustin Atchison, Water Resources Engineer - CH2M HILL Nate Cormier, Principal Landscape Architect - SvR Design Kathy Gwilym, Principal Civil Engineer - SvR Design Alice Lancaster, Senior Civil Engineer - Herrera Environmental Consultants Followed by Q & A Discussion
2:00 PM	Survey & Next Steps

All past Stormwater Learning Cohort event materials and resources at: sightline.org/polluted-runoff-learning-cohort/

This program is coordinated by Sightline Institute (sightline.org), in collaboration with The Russell Family Foundation (trff.org)